GUS RAHKE'S JEWELS FOUND John Hittle, a Greensburg Youth, Surrenders Them.

Gus Rahke has recovered nearly all the diamonds and jewelry stolen from him two weeks ago at his residence, corner of South and New Jersey streets. He received a tip goods could be found at Greensnamed John Hittle. Detective Thornton went to Greensburg and found the young latter at first denied all knowlstuff, but when the detective thing about it, the young man stated that goods recovered consist of four valuable diamond studs, a diamond collar button, diamond cuff button, a diamond studded watch and a diamond-studded charm. One of the studs had been sold or given to another young man who refused to surrender it, until he was threatened with arrest by Young Hittle recently fell heir, at his father's death, to some money and property and since that time, his mother says, he has been leading a wild life. The young man said he met a stranger in a saloon at Greensburg and loaned him $150 on the articles he had. He had simply taken them in pawn. Rahke thinks he will be able to recover the rest of the stolen property through the same clew which led to the finding of the greater part of it.

A STRAIGHT POP TICKET

SHIVELY WILL NOT BE INDORSED LIKE WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

National Committee, Talks of the New Political Alliance.

The Populists at St. Louis worked directly along lines marked out by their national committee. They did it with a good deal of turbulence, it is true, but they did not vary from the programme, which seeks to join forces with the Democratic party upon the presidential question alone during this campaign and still preserve the integrity of the Populist organization. In order to attain this latter end, it is the purpose to have separate Populist State tickets and, wherever possible, separate county tickets. C. M. Walters, of Rossville, the Indiana member of the Populist national committee, returned from St. Louis yesterday afternoon, well satisfied that the programme had got so well under way that it would go through without a break. "We shall nominate Bryan," said Mr. Walters, 'upon the ticket with Watson. This does not by any means mean that we intend to give up any part of our standing as a party. We shall make an aggressive fight throughout the country as Populists. Notwithstanding Mr. Bryan's Centralia speech, we have assurances from Senator Jones and from Senator Alllen, Mr. Bryan's near neighbor in Nebraska, that he is at heart a Populist. We shall help them elect Bryan, but we shall preserve our autonomy as party in order that, if the Democratic party should play false to free silver, as it has done eleven times in the past, we can withdraw our support and let it go to smash. And right here let me say, if the Democratic party wins this year upon free silver and does not give the country free silver the Populist party will completely absorb it in the campaign of 1893. While we walk side by side in this campaign, we understand thoroughly that we are just as likely as not to have a duel to the death at the end of it.' State and county nomination?" was asked. "We shall, certainly. Our Indiana Populist convention meets next week and we shall nominate a straight Populist ticket. We cannot indorse Mr. Shively, as he is a Democrat. We cannot indorse the Democratic State platform because it reaffirms their Chicago platform of 1892, which was gold platform. It is true that further along it declares for free silver, but that makes in the platform a direct contradiction of terms and gives the party the op-tion of choosing whichever it may desire. shall also make a county ticket in every county of the State and make a strong aggressive fight for it. The public must understand that the nomination of Bryan by our party does not mean that we indorse the Democratic party. Why, all over the country they have among their congressional nominations a large number of straight gold men. Now we cannot fol-low any such double dealing as that, Where they play fair, we shall help them; where they do not, we shall fight them."

MAY BE HE'S STILL TALKING.

Populists Adjourn to Relieve Them selves of "Billy" Patterson.

The Marion county Populists Peld "mass meeting," attended by fourteen people, last night at the Hotel English, which broke up in a wordy row between "Billy" Patterson and that portion of the gathering that has grown tired of his endless talk. The meeting was called for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State convention, which meets in the Criminal Court room next Tuesday, and after this business was finished the inevitable Patterson arose to talk. He wanted to explain that the St. Louis convention had made an ass of itself by not swallowing the Democratic ticket whole. He wanted the Indiana Populists to indorse the Democratic electors, and moved that a committee be appointed to suggest this to the State convention. He had no second, but continued to talk.

Finally John Meddert asked if there were any question before the house. aroused the wrath of Patterson. "I don't propose to be shut off in that way!" he "I won't stand here and be insulted on this floor. If you don't know anything about this convention keep still; it's none of your business if some of us want to act "The matter you are talking about is not within the province of this meeting," re-while a man is talking? Inasmuch as this is sometimes the only way of stopping the talk of some people the chairman, W. P. Smith, ruled that they could, and the adjournment was put and carried while Patterson was still talking. Then Patterson let go the vials of his upon Meddert and Atkinson in a manner that was more emphatic than elegant, but they paid no attention to his garrulous outbreak. The list of delegates to the State convention is as follows: George Schoffeld, S. M. Shepard, P. Morningstar, Martin Cawley, William Patterson, W. B. Stairwell, Wm. P. Smith, D. De Voss, C. S. BIG CROWDS ATTEND.

James A. Mount Highly Gratified at the Outlook. James A. Mount came in yesterday morning from his tour of speaking in the gas belt. He expressed himself highly gratified at the unprecedented attendance and interest in his meetings. He has been in several campaigns, but has never seen one in which sues discussed and to get information.

Captain John Worrell, who has been speaking in Hamilton and Carroll counties, has not had a small audience in six meetings. In every instance the halls were filled and on two occasions all who came could not get in. The largest meeting was in Westfield Tuesday afternoon. Like Mr. Mount Captain Worrell reports the deepest interest on the part of the people on the issues of the campaign. As the result of diligent inquiry he finds little or no free silver sentiment among Republicans where he has been. At one place he held a meeting in a hall where a prominent silverite had spoken a night or two previous in the hope of winning Republicans. The hall was crowded to hear Captain Worrell and not that court. The mandate is being withheld

BABIES DUMPED INTO WATER. An Italian Mother Was Careless on the Street.

A careless mother caused quite a crowd to gather yesterday afternoon at the corner cf Pennsylvania and Washington streets. Two Italian women, each with a baby carriage containing two children, were walking up Pennsylvania street toward Washington, paying attention to little but their own conversation. One of the women did not notice the deep step-off from the curb at the corner. She allowed her baby carriage to roll off. Both children were thrown out into a pool of water that was standing there. The frightened mothers snatched up the crying children and replaced them

PUBLISHERS FILE COMPLAINT AGAINST RICHARD FRENCH STONE.

Carlon & Hollenbeck Say He Owes Over $1,500-Fraudulent Transfer of Property Alleged.

Nearly five years ago Richard French Stone began the compilation of the "American Biography of Physicans and Surgeons." Dec. 19, 1891, he contracted with Carlon & Hollenbeck to publish five thousand of the books for $5,750, agreeing to furnish copy for the work, the publishers to do everything necessary to place the book in the hands of the subscribers, for it was to be sold by subscription. At first the idea was well received by local and foreign physicians and material for the book was readily furnished and subscriptions were not wanting. After a time, however, interest lagged and Mr. Stone grew discouraged. In May, 1893, he concluded that there would not be as great a demand for the book as he at first hoped and he made an arrangement with the printers whereby they were to publish but one thousand copies for $2,925. In a suit filed against the author yesterday Carlon & Hollenbeck allege that Mr. Stone was dilatory in furnishing copy and that the work was not completed until June, 1894, Instead of one thousand pages, the amount they were to print according to the origcontract, the size of the book dwindled to between 700 and 800 pages. Then, they allege, the author refused to pay them the amount agreed on, alleging that his hopes of large sales had not been In the complaint filed vesterday Carlon & Hollenbeck state that at the time they entered into the arrangement to publish Stone's book he was financially responsible and owned real estate in his own name worth $10,000. This, they allege, he transferred to a trustee, who reconveyed it to Stone and his wife jointly. The publishing firm charges that this conveyance was fraudulently concealed from it when Stone discovered that his book would not be successful and the deeds were not placed on record for over a year, in order to prevent the firm from having knowledge of the transaction. Afterward, in order to further complicate matters, the firm alleges another conveyance to a trustee was made whereby Mrs. Stone became sole owner of the property. When the last deed was made the firm says she executed a mortgage to the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company. The firm alleges that Stone has paid it but $1.284.75 and that he still owes it $1,565.50. It asks that the different deeds and mortgages be set aside, that it be given judgment for the amount of the bill still unpaid, and that the judgment may become a lien upon Stone's property. Mrs. Stone and the insurance company are made defendants to the suit.

"High Card Dick" Pleads Not Guilty Richard Taylor, alias "High Card Dick," and his partner, John Sheridan, pleaded not guilty to the charge of robbery and the men who, it is alleged, helped rob a merchant of Wisconsin in Tron's saloon about two months ago. Their cases were continued. Matthew Shea was fined $50 and sentenced to one year's imprisonment for embezzlement. Sheriff Womack will transport Charles M. Anderson, Charles Rhodes, Amos Harper and Edward Freeman to Michigan City Monday.

WANTED HER FOUND INSANE But a Commission Finds Frederick Sheets's Wife Sane.

A commission consisting of Justices Walpole and Habich and Drs. Courtney and Morgan was in session at the courthouse vesterday to determine whether Mrs. Clementine Sheets, of 477 North Meridian street, was of sound mind. Mrs. Sheets and her husband, Frederick Sheets, have not been living together, but he has been paying her board. Friday afternoon Mrs. Sheets received a telephone message that her husband was in trouble and wanted her at Knight & Jillson's, where her husband is was notified that she was under arrest and that her husband, who had swor ; out the warrant, had asked that a commission be had been trapped, stating that she nad belleved Sheets was in trouble and had come

At the investigation it was ascertained that Mr. and Mrs. Sheets have been margether until June, 1895. Upon the stand heets stated that he thought his wife had not been sane for three or four years and that she had given him very much trouble during the most of that time. Many times she had threatened to take her life, he said, at one time taking a paper weight and beating herself on the head with it. At another time she had attempted to jump from an upper-story window, and has placed the points of a pair of scissors to her throat, stating that she intended to end her troubles. INDIANA'S SOLDIERS MAY HAVE A DAY'S TRAMP THIS YEAR.

Governor's Day, with Its Big Review, Not Yet Fixed-Instruction in Signal Service.

The camp of instruction of the Indian National Guard began at midnight last night with all the companies but five on the ground at Fairview Park. The five companies not present were Companies F. and M, of Evansville: Company B, of Terre Haute; Company K, of Princeton, and Company F, of Brazil, all of the First regiment. These arrived in the city at 2 o'clock this morning, coming by special train which ran from Terre Haute. All are now in camp and the discipline of army life has begun. Most of the companies arrived yesterday afternoon or last night in time to make their quarters comfortable for the night. This done, the boys made the most of the freedom from the strict discipline which was to follow.

The Indiana Guard this year is composed of about the same number of active men as it was a year ago, and it is believed that about the same number will be in camp. Last year there were 2,680 men in all. The State's soldiery is made up of four regiments besides the artillery. The First, Second and Fourth regiments each have eleven companies, the Third has nine and there are two unassigned companies, the two colored companies of this city. This is a total of forty-four companies, or four less than there were last year. The law limits the number to forty-four now, but provides for a muster of eighty-four men to the company, instead of sixty-four, as | for 59c. heretofore, so that it is believed there will be as many men in camp as there were a year ago. Where a company came last year | morrow, 59c. with from forty-five to fifty men, it comes this year with sixty to sixty-five. The camp is arranged almost exactly as it was last year. Brigade headquarters occupy the knoll north of the long open space which is used for the drill ground. A new feature here is the headquarters of the Governor's staff. Last year members of into camp. They participated with the Governor in the review of the troops, but did not really form a part of the encampment. This year they go into camp the same as the other officers and remain throughout the entire period of the camp. General Mc-Kee's headquarters are on the point of the knoll, and on either side of his tents are the rows of tents occupied by the brigade officers and the Governor's staff, the lat- it comes the technical knowledge of the use ter being to the west and the former to the east. The hospital headquarters also occupy a place east of the general's headquar-

The regiments are located with reference to seniority. The artillery occupies its old place at the extreme south of the camp, having the open field west of the grove for drilling purposes. Next comes the First regiment, then the two unassigned companies and, in the same grove, the Second regiment. The Third and Fourth regiments are in the east grove. The camp last night presented a lively appearance. Lights were burning everywhere and on all sides could be heard the sound of hammer and the songs of the soldier boys as they were working to make the tents they expect to occupy for the coming week as comfortable as possible. Here and there was a company which had completed its preliminary work and its members were whiling away the time at games. Several bands were in the camp and their music was frequently added to the general noise and confusion.

AT FOOD HEADQUARTERS. Midway between the regimental headquarters and the brigade headquarters is the headquarters of the commissary department. Here are several huge canvascovered houses, in which are the provisions | Bridges, who took the butt end of the whip which must feed the thousands during the period of the camp. Wagon after wagon deposited its load, and there were a dozen men engaged in arranging the various articles of food conveniently for issuing durbefore daybreak this morning. Bread was stacked to the canvas, while hundreds of side. He was given a hearing yesterday cases of canned goods of all kinds were morning upon both charges. For the ascases of canned goods of all kinds were there. In quantity it cannot be said that the State has not made ample provision for the boys; they will decide as to the quality after about the third day in camp. This department is under the command of Major George W. Keyser, of this city. At brigade headquarters last night were the following officers: Brig. Gen. W. McKee, commanding; Lieut. Col. F. W. assistant adjutant-general; Lieut, Col. W. M. Wright, chief medical officer; Major George W. Keyser, chief quartermaster; Major Harry O. Eagle, chief commissary officer; Major Fred Joss, judge advocate; Major Charles T. MacIntire, chief signal officer; Major W. W. Robbins, unas-signed; Capt. D. I. McCormick, ordnance officer; Capt. W. The programme for the week was disussed among the officers informally last night. General McKee had already issued the general order giving the daily routine of duty. It provides for the various calls. drills, parades, schools, etc. The order of to-day embraces the special feature of mustering for pay. Those in camp will be registered, and then, if they remain in camp during the entire time, and have no fines. they will receive full pay. Governor's day, when the grand review is to be had, has not yet been fixed. It will probably be on Thursday, provided this day is convenient for the Governor.

A DAY'S TRAMP. General McKee is desirous of devoting one day to the more active duty of army north of the camp, he wants to take the brigade on a day's tramp. This is an experience which will be new to many of the

The work of the medical department will be much more thorough this year than ever before. The law has made some changes in its work. Under his command all the food and meats will be inspected just previous to being issued from the commissary department. His command will also make dally inspection of the company quarters, the cooking apparatus and the garbage sinks. Two weeks ago Dr. Wright requested each regimental surgeon to furnish him with a list of medicine he desired for his regiment, and these have been supplied and are now in general headquarters. Last night there was but one sick man in camp. He is Harry Hvatt, of Company D. First Regiment. He was suffering from a slight disorder of the stomach and will be able to report for duty

Major MacIntyre, of the signal service, has about sixteen of his twenty-four men n camp. The first thing to-day they will string telegraph lines connecting all the regimental headquarters with the brigade headquarters. Major MacIntyre and all but three of his men are practical operators, and most of them have had some experience in field work. A BRUTAL GARDENER

Given the Limit on a Fine for Assaulting a Woman.

John Bridges, a gardener, of Wayne township, received one of the heaviest fines at the hands of Justice Nickerson yesterday that has been imposed in a justice's court in many a day. Two charges of assault and battery had been filed against him, and he was found guilty of both. Several days ago some geese belonging to Patrick Wood, a boy who lives in that neighborhood, had got into Bridges's garden and were eating his vegetables when he discovered them. He drove them out of the lot and up the road toward his house, but upon the way he met Wood, the owner of the geese. Wood, who lives on the same road, but in the opposite direction from Bridges's house, attempted to drive the geese toward his own home. The boy was trying to drive them in one direction and Bridges in the other, but the boy seemed to be succeeding the better. This enraged he was carrying, knocked the boy down and then proceedd to beat him in the most

About this time the boy's mother drove along in a buggy, and, seeing the trouble and got between him and her son. Bridges knocked her down and kicked her in the sault upon the boy the magistrate fined him $5, but upon the charge against the mother he gave him the limit of the law. $25. The fines and costs upon both cases amounted to $79.90. Defended His Banana Cart.

Charles Gardina, a fourteen-year-old Italian boy living at 121 Duncan street, was arrested last night for assault and battery and carrying concealed weapons. Gardina was released under bond, but soon after he had left it was learned that he was the person who had cut a boy named Seymour earlier in the evening. Garina peddles bananas and while standing with his cart at the corner of Washington and West streets he was accosted by several boys who, he claimed, tried to take a bunch of bananas away from him. He backed up against his cart, and taking the knife which he uses to cut his fruit with, slashed right and left and succeeded in keeping the boys away. Young Seymour, who was cut lives on West street between Market and Ohio streets. He was not badly wounded.

His Salary to Another Man. Della Green is the defendant in a suit for divorce filed by her husband, Oliver P. Green, yesterday. The latter alleges that they were married the last Sunday in March, 1895, and lived together until June, when the plaintiff says he discovered his wife was guilty of violating her marriage vows, at Fields's Hotel, with James Solanberg. Green alleges that he gave a large portion of his salary to his wife, who turned it over to Solanberg. He also alleges that she associated with various other men whose names he does not know.

Always Ahead. Fall style Hats at "Seaton's Hat Store." England Is for McKinley.

The London Spectator, in a lengthy edi orial on American politics, indorses Mc-Kinley and the gold platform, and says that an enormous mass of poor men who are overburdened with debts will vote for McKinley even if a vote for Bryan would better their condition. This is strange talk from the editor of a great paper. Does the London Spectator truly believe that if a farmer or mechanic owes $1,000 on his propmen, and which General McKee thinks is erty and by a vote for Bryan can pay this lebt for $500 that he will cast his vote for McKinley? The editor of this London paper had better post himself or take some of Haag's Liver Pills, as they are the best medicine in the world to clear the head, cure sick or bilious headache, as well as malaria and kidney troubles. This is the new pill Julius A. Haag, the Denison House druggist, originally made for his aged mother, who had suffered for years with chronic indigestion and constipation and was cured by their use. The many cures made by this new medicine have created such a great demand that agencies have been established in 118 drug stores of Indianapolis and suburbs, where the genuine Haag's Liver Pills are on sale for 25 cents a box. As they are made of the highest grade of chemicals and are not a patent medicine there is no cut on the price. Mr. Haag also makes a capsule for neuraigia, cold in the head and fever, known as Haag's Cold and Fever Capsule, which cure a cold in a day, and these also sell for 25 cents a box.
